TO,

Chief Secretary,
Government of Punjab,
Punjab Civil Secretariat,
Chandigarh

Sir,

SUBJECT: Demand for changing the name of “Chandigarh University” to avoid confusion arising out of similarity in name with Punjab University, Chandigarh.

I am enclosing herewith a scanned copy of news report published in Today's News Paper (of 21.4.2019) under the caption “What's in a name ? A lot for 2 students who landed in Chandigarh Univ instead of PU”. Letter to Panjab University VC Triggers debate over name confusion of both institutes.”

You may kindly appreciate that Panjab University is functioning since times immemorial, whereas the Chandigarh University is a private University , and is a recent creation of “The Chandigarh University Act.” I am not disputing that Chandigarh University has earned a lot of reputation during last few years, but that can not be a ground for continuing confusion due to resemblance in the names of the two Universities, more so because both Universities are situated at a very short distance, and while the Private University, which is situated near Chandigarh, has incorporated the word “Chandigarh” as a part of its name, the Punjab University is situated at Chandigarh proper. The matter warrants your immediate attention, particularly on account of today's news story published in the Times of India.

Soliciting prompt response.

Yours Sincerely,

(HARI CHAND)
